

Whether your loved one is simply dealing with the normal struggles of aging or coping with the affects of Alzheimer's or dementia, there's no need to go it alone – let us help!

Our Caregivers and Personal Assistants:

Our caregivers and personal assistants are chosen for their various professional skills, personal interests and experiences. They are caring, smart, well dressed, and often have very specialized talents. It isn't enough to just have a warm body helping you or your parent. Our staff is continually working to find ways to get our clients involved, interested, and hopefully out and about.

Jonathan Wishnick, Owner:

Jon brings his desire to help seniors and his dedication to serve our community to Senior Helpers. He is a life-long area resident, married with two wonderful (almost grown) children, and deep connections to the community. Jon is thrilled to be in a business that that can make a difference to his clients and their families!

Kari Martin, Director of Client Services:

Kari brings a caring attitude, a focus on doing what is best for you (her client), and a deep commitment to our community to the job. Kari has a background in psychology and in client services, and is motivated to help seniors get the help that they deserve.

Crystal Horner, Operations Coordinator:

Crystal brings a wealth of experience and expertise to her job. Crystal has held many positions both managing caregivers and the managing the relationship between caregiver and client. Crystal expects the highest level of service and attention from our wonderful employees...and she makes sure that you (the client) are glad that you chose Senior Helpers!

All of us at Senior Helpers love knowing that our work helps improve lives.
